

Kissimmee Paranormal Investigator

Legend and History of Place and Investigation Report

Date: 2-26-06 Time: 7:40 pm

Investigator: Richard

Location: Drawdy Rouse Cemetery

Weather: Clear Skies, No Wind

Legend / History of Place

The ghost of a man who died in the 1840's is seen here. He is seen often as a shadowy figure in period clothing in the cemetery, the adjacent woods and the fields across the street. The apparition is known as Benjamin Miles, a local settler who is buried there in an unmarked grave. It is said that this is a particularly angry and dangerous spirit. His presence is accompanied by a chill in the air and the call of an owl. The sound of that owl is said to be a warning that Benjamin Miles is nearby. All of these phenomena are almost always seen at night usually in the fall and winter seasons

Investigator Report

We did hear the owl that night at different times of the night. Kim was using the magnetic meter and got some readings from it. I was taken pictures walking all the way around the cemetery it was strange walking around the place the headstones were not in a line you have two rows of tombstones and you have one in the middle of the row. They are out of order not in line at all . I took a picture of Kim sitting on the bench and later when I looked at the picture there is something above her head. When enlarging the picture it turned out to be a picture of a face . Kim was walking around her magnetic reader went off twice , she felt like she was being pulled towards one site with the vase of flowers and she felt like someone was following her several times as she moved from grave to grave.